

Alexander Bell Sibley
February 6, 2014

A moment has passed
Ended
Leaving only memories
And
In Time
Those too will pass
With those who remembered
Leaving only a blank page

Leaving
An etched cold stone
Spelling out a name
And a time

And in time
It will stand alone

Yet,
Like a dazzling meteor
Passing through the dark April night
Seen by only those who looked for it
You passed through our moment

A brief moment
In time's infinite arc

And those who looked for it
Witnessed
A dedicated son
A loving brother
Loyal friend
Dedicated employee
A fiercely independent man
Making his own way
----A good man

And in April
When Lyrids meteors dance
Their momentary ballet
In the star-filled night

I will look up
At their dazzling display
Smile
And think of Andy

Thankful
That I was there
To see his meteor pass

By James Gregory Maynard
February 19, 2014